CHARLEROI RED CROSS CHAPTER ENROLLS OVER 3,000 MEMBERS

At the Same Time it Collected Over Six Thousand Dollars

RETAIN BUT SMALL PART

Charleroi's campaign for members of the local Chapter of the Red Cross ended on Monday evening last, but a couple of days were required to collect all of the reports from the various chairmen of the precinct committees on enrollment. These have now been received by the executive committee and a tabulation has been completed. It shows that the campaign resulted in the securing of the 3,000 members, which was the goal set by the officers, exclusive of the California Branch and the Roscoe auxiliary. When these two divisions shall have completed their enrollment the membership of the Charleroi Chapter will be increased several hundred.

The amount of money subscribed in this campaign will run well over $6,000 only a small percentage of which, however, can be retained by the local Chapter, as the greater portion of the fund must be sent to National headquarters. The local Finance Committee will continue at work, for it will be part of the duty of the local Chapter to take care of all its own work, buy its own supplies and pay all the running expenses of the organization, whenever it may be.

It is the purpose of the Chapter to secure rooms some place in town which will be used as a workroom and where all the supplies to be used by the Chapter will be received, made up into Red Cross needs, packed and shipped to whatever point they may be ordered. This phase of the work is expected to be put into operation within a very short time, as the officers are anxious to have the Chapter busy as a working unit of the Red Cross.

The President of the society and members of the executive committee feel very grateful to all those who contributed in any way to the success of the campaign, and particularly to the members of the enrollment committee, whose untiring work made it possible to secure the necessary number of members.

Members of the various committees will be announced in a few days.

CALL FOR DRAFT IS EXPECTED VERY SOON

The draft exemption boards throughout the country are organizing and are completing the preparation of all registration cards. With these duties attended to it is expected the date for the selective draft will not be far away. The drawing will take place in Washington and will be publicly announced by the various boards from their different headquarters.

BENEFITS FROM NEW ROAD LAWS

Townships and Boroughs May Ask Aid From the County

RAISE MONEY BY BOND ISSUE

An increased mileage of improved roads for Washington county ought to result from the provisions of two bills passed by the recent session of the legislature, both of which have been approved by Governor Brumbaugh.

The first act provides for the improvement of roads other than state highways and state-aid roads, by townships assisted by the county commissioners. In this law the manner of procedure is set forth, the initiative being with the township supervisors, through petition signed by at least five property holders, to the court of quarter sessions, and if court of quarter sessions, and if a board of viewers will be appointed to pass upon the merits of the improvement.

The second act is a supplement to the act of May 11, 1911. It provides that boroughs or townships may enter into contracts with the county commissioners for the construction of improved roads, the township, borough and county paying such sums as shall be agreed upon. The cost of the work shall first be paid by the county, and reimbursement shall be made by the borough or township to the county upon presentation of bills. Townships or boroughs are authorized to issue bonds in order to raise the sums necessary.

Notice to Odd Fellows

For all members wishing to go to Ben Avon home Sunday July 8, a special car will leave Fifth street at 10:45 a. m. and will leave Pittsburg for the return trip at 6 p. m.
By order of the committee.

REPORT OF DRAFT WAS ERRONEOUS

Considerable comment was caused by the story originated is not known but it caused considerable comment until it was finally discovered that the report was false. No drawings have yet been made, and none will be made until all of the draft exemption boards have been named and a duplicate list of all registered men made. This may take several days yet, after which the date of the draft will likely be made known.

NEW STOP FOR P. & L. E. TRAINS

The new schedule which went into effect on the P. & L. E. railroad last Sunday provides for a stop at the Monessen end of the Charleroi-Monessen bridge. This will be quite an accommodation to people on this side of the river.

MAY TAKE ACTION AGAINST RAILROAD

The city commissioners of Monongahela, changing the Pennsylvania Railroad with violating many provisions of their franchise ordinance, may take steps to compel the company to observe the requirements thereof. The reason for this action is because of two people who were killed while crossing the railroad tracks in that city last month.

MACCABEES SURPRISE ONE OF THEIR MEMBERS

The Lady Maccabees of Charleroi Review tendered a surprise to Mrs. Laura Eckel, one of their members, Thursday evening. The ladies had planned to carry their surprised hostess off to the carnival, but they found her suffering with a slight attack of the grip, which caused a change of program. Mrs. Eckel has served as Commander, Record Keeper and Representative of the Maccabees and is held in high esteem by the members. It was for the purpose of showing their appreciation that the surprise was arranged. The evening was pleasantly spent with Mrs. Eckel and refreshments consisting of home made cake and ice cream was served. About 40 members and a number of guests were present.

SOLDIERS EQUIPPED WHEN MUSTERED

Announcement was made this week that soldiers called for service in the United States army during the present war will be fully equipped as fast as mustered. The government has had contractors working on uniforms and other needed supplies for some months, and will be ready to outfit every man who is called by the first of September. Units will be called into service beginning with July 15 at intervals until the full number of men required have been obtained.

Precinct Chairmen Now Canvassing Women of Charleroi

WILL ENTAIL NO OBLIGATION

The members of the local Public Safety Committee of this district, composed of Messrs Kerfoot W. Daly, J. J. Hott, W. W. Jameson, R. C. Mountsier and C. S. VanVoorhis, met with the ladies who have been designated as precinct chairmen of Charleroi and vicinity for the enrollment of the housewives of this locality, at the Bank of Charleroi directors' room Thursday evening. All of the ladies with the exception of Miss Grace Gelder were present, and Miss Nellie Pieper was selected to take her place as chairman of the fifth district.

The meeting was for the purpose of consultation, and the preparation of a plan of campaign, whereby all of the housewives of this district will be canvassed with a view of having them sign cards, which will be filed with the Food Administration at Washington, who will have literature bearing on the food question in its every phase mailed at frequent intervals. The ladies will be in charge of this part of the public safety campaign and the precinct chairmen, Miss Maude Spidell, first district; Miss Letitia Furlong, second district; Mrs. Jack Mier, third district; Miss Jean Calvert, fourth district; Miss Nellie Pieper, fifth district, and Mrs. W. Wood, sixth district.

charge of this work. They have power to appoint as many aids as they will need, and active work of canvassing will begin at once.

Special efforts will be made to enroll the foreign speaking people, and through some of our influential foreign born citizens it is believed this can be accomplished. The signing of cards on the part of the people, a copy of which appears in today's paper, entails no obligation on the signer; the government wants to know how many mouths there are to feed in this country, and by securing the names of the housewives and the number of each household, it will have accomplished its purpose. Every citizen can assist in this all.

CHEAP POTATOES WITHIN TEN DAYS

Pittsburg commission merchants, discussing the price of potatoes on Thursday, announced that the potato would drop out of the market for tubers within the next ten days. It was predicted potatoes would retail for $1.20 per bushel within that time. According to dealers the drop will result from peculiar crop conditions. Generally potatoes from Virginia ripen about three weeks ahead of the Jersey crop. This year they are late and both crops will come on the market together.

A SENSIBLE CONCLUSION

A committee of the Merchants' Association of New York City, after considering the need of "an agitation against superfluous economy" during war time, with a view to keep business going at the normal, has reported against any such agitation, as follows:

"There is no substantial evidence that the public is not making and will not continue to make its accustomed purchases in proportion to its normal needs. It is our observation that such timidity as has existed is passing, and that the disposition of the people is to continue their normal outlays, except in the matter of food consumption, in which field wise economy is prevalent. Under these circumstances we think it would be a mistake to undertake a crusade to 'keep business going'. There is no apparent need for such a crusade, and if entered upon it would probably tend to disquiet rather than compose the public mind, which is not now really disquieted and therefore needs no composing."

This admirably stated and sensible conclusion confirms the observation of citizens throughout the country who have employed the eyes and ears that nature gave them. We have too many needless agitations already and the addition of another, especially of this sort and at a time when business is no longer interrupted, is far from desirable.

GENEROUS APPRECIATION

The criticism of public officials who have been in the front line of the hard tasks calls to mind the fact that generous appreciation of the work of others is much rarer than it ought to be. Perhaps most of us are inclined to speak critically of an acquaintance or even of a friend—until he is dead. Then we find it easy to obey the old Latin injunction, de mortuis nil nisi bonum. Perhaps this is partly because we no longer regard him as a possible rival, partly because we no longer wish to make our own virtues shine by comparison and partly because we become at least slightly remorseful as we reflect that we failed to give him his due while he lived. To speak well of the dead whenever possible is a good rule, but to be just to the living is a better; the one is becoming, but only the other performs a really needed service.

Many of us are generous enough to praise a man behind his back, but shrink from speaking appreciatively to his face for fear of being regarded as designingly flattering. But the danger of this is very slight. In 1750 world-wise Lord Chesterfield wrote to his son: "Those whom you can make like themselves better will, I promise you, like you very well." And Theobald once sagely observed: "Whenever you feel impelled to pay someone a compliment, cut with it; don't be afraid! No danger of your giving offense." What we really should do, of course, is not to think of ourselves at all, but only of giving needed help and encouragement by appreciating to a friend or neighbor his good qualities or talents. This is easy to do, costs us nothing, tends to cultivate a generous disposition in ourselves, and, when done sincerely, is a great help to others. Speak well of the dead, although they have no need of words from us; but don't forget the living, for from them we can perform real service.

The operators are really frightened enough to get down to work. Soft coal is selling for 200 to 250 cents a ton.

The war lords may pretend to be indifferent to the decline in the value of a mark, but intelligent Germans can hardly fail to perceive its ominous significance.

As very few of the recruits have money enough to get into Newport society, the navy department may feel assured that their morals are about as safe in the Rhode Island capital as in any other city.

CARROLL'S NEW SCHOOL TO BE KNOWN AS STAR

Stephens Brothers of Monongahela have been awarded the contract for the erection of a single room school building on the Allen plan of lots adjoining Donora, in Carroll township. The contract price is $1,900 and work was started Thursday morning. It will be known as the Star school, in commemoration of a school that existed in the township many years ago, but was abandoned when the building at the Sampson crossroads was erected. It will be finished and ready for occupancy at the beginning of the coming school term, the first week in September.

STATE POLICE WILL RETURN TO MONONGAHELA

According to a statement made by Sergeant Paul Stout of the State Constabulary, who was visiting in Monongahela early in the week, a detachment of the State Police will be sent to Monongahela about the 10th of the month. The detachment, which was formerly located at the place, was moved to Company headquarters when the declaration of war was made early in April, with a view of having the State body ready for emergencies. The emergency having passed, detachments will now be stationed at various points in the state outside of Company headquarters. It is likely the Monongahela detachment will be in charge of Corporal Murphy.

ONLY TWO PUPILS EAGER FOR FARM WORK

Just two high school students responded in Washington Tuesday night when a call was made for volunteers to enlist for farm work for the summer. Many of the public school pupils do work during the summer, but many of them are not employed, and why they failed to respond to the invitation is what is puzzling County Agriculturalist M. J. McKee. Over one hundred additional farm hands are needed in Washington county right now.

At The Davis.

The glory of the Russian ballet is mingled with the refined artistry of world wide vaudeville at the New Davis, Pittsburgh, for one week, beginning Monday afternoon, July 9th. As an extraordinary headline attraction Managers Harry Davis and John P. Harris have secured Albertina Rasch, famous prima ballerina assoluta, and Constantin Kobloff, from the Imperial Russian Ballet of Petrograd. With a company of selected dancers of great ability they will perform a series of seven diversions, registering the whole range of classical terpsichore. The dancers have been set to inspiring music and each number will be given a brilliant stage setting.

The harvesting of the great potato crop has begun and already the excessive price of $9 a barrel has dropped to $6. A very good beginning, but the happy ending should see the price in the normal neighborhood of $3 or lower—with fairness to both grower and consumer.

FILLING OUT A CHECK

It is a Good Rule Always to Write the Stub First.

In a big store a woman was paying with a check for some goods she had just bought, and she was carefully filling in the stub of her check book first. "Oh, don't stop for that!" urged her shopping companion, who was in a hurry. "You can do that when you get home."

Unmoved, the careful woman filled the stub with special care, she wrote the check, gave it to the sales man and said to her shopping companion: "Before I was married I took care of some of my father's affairs. The first time he ever asked me to fill out a set of blank checks for him so he could sign them he told me: 'One rule you must always observe—write the stub first. Make a vow to yourself, the next time you write a check, that you will never write a check until the stub is filled. If for any reason you should fail later to write the check it will be a simple matter to cancel the stub, but if you write a check and leave the stub blank you open the door to a number of dangers. No one's memory can be trusted on this subject. Never try to trust yours. The law of the stub first' be to the law of the Medes and the Persians." I have always found it perfectly easy to follow that rule, and that is one reason I have a bank account today. My husband is never afraid I will make him any trouble with it."

HEED BAD ODORS.

They May Warn You of Places Where Disease Germs Lurk.

Even a bad odor has its uses. Scientists say that the offensive smell which comes from decaying and diseased matter is in reality one of nature's measures of preparedness and of prevention.

Offensive odors indirectly prevent the spread of epidemics by calling attention to the breeding place of the disease. They give warning that something is wrong, and they persist in this warning by becoming more and more offensive until the wrong is righted.

The odor does not convey the germ or communicate the disease, because in most cases direct contact is necessary to do this, or the infection is communicated by some substance taken into or brought in contact with the body. But it does tell where the disease exists or is likely to exist. It also gives warning of tainted or unfit food, as the nose is intended by nature to be one of man's chief allies in the fight for health.

Some have even gone so far as to state that mothers should not encourage their children smelling their food before they eat it. The tendency to do this is said to be a natural one. The nose is not placed above the mouth by accident. It was designed in primitive man as a guide-post for his stomach, and it is still a good guide.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Looking Glass In Fiction.

All nations have shown by their stories how the looking glass is regarded as ministering to vanity. The ancient Greeks depicted Venus with a mirror and even described her chamber as lined all over with mirrors, so that whichever way her eyes turned she could behold her beautiful self. But Minerva never used a mirror. Pass to West Africa and we find a native story which begins with a magic mirror that possessed the power of speech and always said, "Mirrors, there is none," when its owner, a woman called Maria, asked it, "My mirror, is there any other beautiful woman like myself?" But one day Maria's daughter entered the forbidden room where it was kept, asked a similar question and got a similar answer. A tale of maternal jealousy and vengeance follows.—London Spectator.

Sunlight and Germs.

Here is an instructive experiment made by scientists to show the effects of sunlight. Some germs of the terrible disease anthrax were sown on two plates of gelatin, and while one plate was kept in the dark the other was placed in the sunlight. The germs grew and at the end of ten minutes there were 300 colonies or groups in the sunshine plate and 400 colonies in the dark plate.

One hour later the result was. In the sunshine plate, none, in the dark plate 2,520. No disease germ thrives in sunlight.

VILLAGES OF GALICIA

Where Family, Cattle and Fowls All Live in Two Rooms.

The villages of Galicia are especially interesting on Sundays and holidays, when the national costumes are donned.

The cottages are generally made of stone or board plastered over and are then covered with a coat of whitewash. The straw roof is frequently crowned with green growing moss, which adds to its picturesque appearance if not to its healthfulness. Water is drawn from the wells by a long pole balanced near the center. These wells have a decided old world appearance.

The interior of the cottages is usually divided into two rooms. In one room the entire family lives, eats and sleeps; in the other, in more or less harmonious contentment, dwell the cows, pigs, chickens and geese. No household would be complete without a number of geese.

Around the cottages a number of children are sure to be seen playing. A dozen or twenty or thirty of such cottages, each separated only by a small yard, make up a village. If there is a marriageable daughter in the house the lull of the door and the window surroundings are ornamented with little irregular bands, which is a notice to the marriageable young men.—Christian Herald.

VALUE IN DEAD LETTERS.

The Loss and Trouble That Are Caused by Slover Carelessness.

More than two and a quarter million dollars' worth of checks, drafts, money orders and other valuable papers were found in undelivered letters by the dead letter office during the last year, and practically all were restored to their owners.

The first assistant postmaster general announces that the dead letter division handled 10,809,850 letters and parcels during the year, a slight increase over the previous year. One-third of these letters and parcels, or 3,677,194, was delivered, 101,485 contained things of value without claimants, 7,019,436 had to be destroyed and 41,775 still are being investigated.

In addition to the valuable papers, with a face value of $2,308,119, found in undelivered letters, many contained stamps, and some currency was found loose in the mails.

The dead mail received by the dead letter division during the year contained 677,700 misdirected letters, 115,706 unaddressed letters, 228,700 letters held for postage, 440,200 letters written on hotel letter paper by persons unknown to the hotels and 104,700 letters bearing fictitious signatures.

Army Aviation Service.

Significant in view of the popular conception of flying as extreme daredevilry, is the record of the United States army aviation service from Jan. 1 to Dec. 26, 1916. During that period 7,087 flights were made by military pilots. In all 3,357 hours were spent in the air, which means that more than nine hours each day of the year some soldier aviator was aloft. The distance traveled amounted to approximately 231,775 miles, or slightly more than ten times the circumference of the earth. There was no fatality. Evidently these figures cannot be fairly compared with current railroad and motorcar statistics. Contrasts are not needed, however, to accent their import. Safe flying is not yet accident proof and possibly never will be, but neither is it extremely foolhardy.—Searle Hendee in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Richard the Hunchback.

Of all the kings of England perhaps Richard, the hunchback, has the most sinister reputation, his only rival being the crafty John. He died on Bosworth field fighting for the crown he had gained by murder. It is a matter of history as well as of Shakespeare—not always the same thing—that the tide of success turned against Richard when Lord Stanley took himself and his men from his side to that of Richmond. When hard pressed Richard cried: "I am king of England! I will not budge an inch." Then, being overwhelmed, he died, crying: "Treason! Treason!"

Esquimos and Whales.

The Esquimos use every part of the whale. The oil is burnt, fuel and food for them; the flesh, food; the whalebone and true bale are used in making sledges, boats, bows, spears and harpoons; the sinews form thread and twine; the thin membranes, window glass.

ENEMIES TO SUCCESS.

Learn to Avoid Timidity, Shyness or Self Consciousness.

Timidity, shyness and self consciousness belong to the same family. We usually find all where we find any one, and they are all enemies of peace of mind, happiness and achievement. No one has ever done a great thing while his mind was centered upon himself. We must lose ourselves before we can find ourselves. Self analysis is valuable only to learn our strength; it is fatal if it makes us dwell upon our weaknesses.

Timid, shy people are methodically self-conscious. They think too much about themselves. Their thoughts are turned inward, they are always analyzing, dissecting themselves, wondering how they appear and what people think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain, what success in life they would achieve.

Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do and are kept from trying to make real their great life dreams because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points, which smart from the harshest touch. Their super-sensitiveness makes cowards of them.—O. S. Marden.

OIL UPON THE WATERS.

Why It Tames the B. Waves and Calms the Troubled Sea.

Waves in motion are caused entirely by the action of the wind. The adhesion between the rapidly moving particles of air which compose the wind and the surface particles of the water causes the water's surface to be dragged along with the air. Small ripples are immediately formed. These ripples soon overtake others near them. They unite, and due to the friction between the water particles, each succeeding ripple piles up on the top of previous ones.

Just as soon as oil is spread upon the water, however, the size of the waves is reduced like magic. The reason for this is interesting.

Oil, unlike water, has very little internal friction between its particles. The ripples of oil formed by the wind therefore cannot pile upon each other to any considerable height; hence water waves cannot grow in an area of oil placed about a steamer. They begin to fall down instead. By the time these waves reach the boat they will have lost their formative ripples, and the result is a perfectly calm surface over the portion of the sea through which the boat is making its way.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Wagon Wheel Paradox.

A very interesting paradox is the one concerning an ordinary wagon wheel, which is solid and rigid, yet, when fastened to its axle on a wagon, when the wagon moves part of the circumference of the wheel which is in contact with the ground is for an instant at absolute rest, while the point directly perpendicular to it is flying along at a high rate of speed. The two points horizontal with the center of the wheel are traveling pretty fast, but only half as fast as the topmost point, and as the upgoing horizontal point increases in speed the downgoing one slows up, until it is at rest for a moment when in contact with the ground. Yet the wheel is one solid piece and there are only two points going at the same rate of speed at the same time. Yet if the wheel is taken off the axle and rolled down an incline every point of the circumference moves at the same rate of speed.

Sleet and Slush.

In the interest of accuracy the weather bureau some time ago urged the use of the word "tornado" for "cyclone" when the meaning is a violent storm of small diameter. In the same interest it now offers "glaze" for "sleet." The official description of sleet is small globules of rain that freeze before they strike the ground. When the rain freezes on trees and buildings the condition is a "glaze," and when the glaze is severe and there is a strong wind it is an "ice storm." But not even the weather bureau is likely to find a substitute for "sleet"—Youth's Companion.

Seven Days King.

Masanieto (Thomas Aniello, born 1822, was known as the "Seven Days King." He headed a revolt against the Duke of Arcos at Naples, July 7, 1847, forced him to abolish the tax on provisions and for seven days was master of Naples. He was most arrogant and bloodthirsty and was assassinated July 16. He is the hero of two operas, one by Carafa, called "Masanieto," and the other by Abner (quattro di Scriba), called "La Nocte de Perico."

MEN ARE WANTED TO TRAIN FOR OFFICERS

The War department has announced that any desirable man 25 years of age and up can secure an appointment to the officers' training camp to prepare himself for an officer to serve in the new army now being organized, if he so desires. Men of conscriptive age are not barred from this field of action, if they desire to try for a commission; in fact the War department prefers men who have just passed their 25th year and who are capable and forceful. Previous military training, while desirable, is not a necessary adjunct to an appointment. The government is in need of many officers, and those who can qualify for the position will be given appointments. All applications for these positions should be made before the 15th of July.

STREET PARADE WILL BE UNIQUE AND PICTURESQUE

When Jess Willard, the Kansas "White Hope" who made good, and the old Buffalo Bill Wild West Show come to Charleroi, Saturday, July 14 the event will be signaled by what is declared to be one of the most unique and picturesque street parades ever organized. A fortune, it is said, has been expended in great floats and tableau cars depicting historical events in the life of the great West, magnificent horses and special features peculiarly appropos to a frontier exhibition of this comprehensive kind. Scores of blanketed Indians, cowboys, cow girls, Mexicans, old scours, and other strenuous people are utilized in the line and the vari-colored costumes are said to make an effect that is brilliantly kaleidoscopic. The parade will take place about 10:30 a. m. and will traverse the principal streets. The performances will take place at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. Jess Willard will appear at both performances.

FORMER CHARLEROI GIRL TO BE SHOWN IN MOVIES

Miss Thomas was formerly with the "Follies" and the "Midnight Frolic." She is one of the most beautiful of screen stars and was named by Harrison Fisher as the most beautiful American show girl. The story is one of the escapades of a dashing rough school girl.

An Unlucky Showman.

Punch and Judy originated in China about 1,000 years before Christ. The Emperor Mir of the Chow dynasty was one day making a tour through the empire when an entertainer named Yien Shi was brought into his presence to amuse the ladies of his court. During the performance the puppets cast such significant glances toward the ladies that the angered emperor ordered the originator of the "puppet" play to be executed.—London Answers.

DEMONSTRATION BY A CANNING EXPERT

About seventy-five Charleroi ladies assembled in the domestic science department of the high school Thursday afternoon, to attend the canning demonstration lecture given by Miss Smith, the State College expert, who was assigned to Charleroi.

Miss Smith is an expert in her line and gave the ladies present some very valuable information about the canning of vegetables and how to do it in a scientific way. It was not merely a talk as to how things should be done—but a practical demonstration of how it is done, for while Miss Smith talked, she likewise worked, and the ladies present not only got the theory but likewise the practical end of this new phase of domestic science.

The demonstration given by Miss Smith is in line with the movement for the conservation of food and the diffusion of this knowledge among the various households of the country will mean the saving of millions of dollars every year in the way of foodstuffs. Another practical demonstration of food saving will be held in Charleroi some time in August, at which time a two-day session will be held, and which is expected to reach a much larger number of housekeepers.

ANOTHER BIG TOWING STEAMER HAS BEEN SOLD

The big towing steamer Jim Wood, formerly owned by the Pittsburg Coal company, and which for years was operated in the trade between Pittsburg and Louisville, has been sold to the Barrett Towboat Company of Cincinnati. It will be taken to Cairo and used in the Mississippi river trade. The boat was built in Pittsburg in 1885 by John A. Wood & Son, has a gross tonnage of 525 and a net tonnage of 402. It is 169 feet long, with 32.2 feet beam and 5.8 feet depth of hold. This makes the third large towing steamer to be sold by the Pittsburg Coal company within the past ten days, and it is likely that other of the larger towing steamers will be disposed of soon, likely to companies in the transportation business on southern waters.

PROMINENT DOCTORS EXCITED AND AMALED

THEY ARE WORKED UP OVER THE ACTION OF PHOSPHATED IRON MAKING THE WEAK STRONG

Victims of weak nerves and run down systems due to lack of pure blood will be glad to know that there is, according to the best physicians a reliable remedy for them.

Many who were steadily going down hill to permanent illness and nervous breakdown have regained perfect health by taking PHOSPHATED IRON, the new blood and nerve food.

One elderly woman said, "I was all in, looked and felt like the last run of shad, was clear discouraged without ambition or appetite. Now look at me. I have the good health and bubbling spirits of a girl of eighteen, eat and sleep well. It made a new man of my husband too. And though we are well along in years we both face the future with confidence, knowing that as long as our blood is charged with good health, giving Iron and Phosphates we are safe."

Again a bookkeeper who used it says: "If ever a man had a case of nerves it was me. I could not sleep at night, the least sound made me jump, appetite gone, everything was up hill work and I felt myself slipping every day. My doctor said: 'Try Phosphated Iron, it is the exact remedy you require.' The first week I improved; my nerves steadied down, that I slept, my appetite and digestion improved, and it seemed to me that I could almost feel the Phosphates and Iron feeding my weak watery blood and tired nerves. I now weigh 25 lbs. more than I ever did, and much stronger."

A prominent physician to whom the above statements were submitted said: "Yes, PHOSPHATED IRON is easily the most wonderful Iron preparation yet discovered. Its ingredients are well known to all blood and nerve specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice and cured many patients where other physicians had failed. I can highly recommend it for all cases of weak nerves and poor blood, as well as general loss of tone, with absence of appetite, it seldom fails me in this class of cases."

Special Notice. To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put up in capsules only. Do not let dealers give you tablets or pills. Insist on capsules W. F. Hennings, Charleroi and leading druggists everywhere.

GARDEN COLUMN

By National Emergency Food Garden Commission

Canning

To avoid what is known as "flat sour" in peas, also asparagus, beans, and corn, the fresh produce should be handled very carefully save to the bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is co-operating with this paper in a nation wide campaign to conserve the food supply of the country.

Only fresh young peas should be used, the best time to gather these being in the morning while it is cool. The whole process should be carried on rapidly as possible and peas should not be allowed to stand after shelling.

Shell and sort, putting peas of same size and maturity together. Be sure not to put hard ripe peas among the soft ones. When peas are too old or split or broken they should be removed before packing as the liquid becomes cloudy.

Blanching, cold dipping and packing are very important for it is in these processes that the damage occurs which causes "flat sour."

To blanch the peas plunge them into boiling water for from four to eight minutes depending upon their tenderness; then put them immediately into cold water for an instant. Pack at once into jars within a half inch of the top. If jars are to full some peas will burst and make the liquid cloudy. Add one level teaspoonful of salt to the quart and fill with hot water. Partly tighten tops and sterilize for two and half to three hours. (If using tin cans seal completely before sterilizing.) After proper sterilization remove jars from boiling water, complete fastening of tops, invert jars and place out of draught to cool. Wrap in dark colored paper to prevent bleaching in storage.

Enclose a two cent stamp to the commission at 210 Maryland Bldg., Washington for a canning manual which will be sent free.

MRS. CUMMINGS WAS NEARLY WILD FROM SLEEP LOSS

But this and Other Ills Surrendered To Nerv-Worth

This eloquent endorsement was given not long ago to the Nerv-Worth druggists at Morgantown, W. Va.

"Suffered from a general nervous breakdown. Could not sleep night or day. My circulation often became numb. At times I was nearly wild from loss of sleep and nervous. My daughter induced me to try Nerv-Worth. So far I have taken two bottles. Sleeplessness and nervousness are now things of the past. I feel like a re-created person. I certainly do want to pass the good news along as other suffering as I did may be helped. It is surely a miracle-working remedy."
